Luxury Yacht Design

RYAN ALTMAN

Ryan Altman is a South Florida-based yacht designer with over 50 Ferretti Yachts projects completed in the past eight years. Raised in a family rooted in design and construction, he began his career working with his mother, designer Marty Lowe, before founding his own firm, M2Develop, in Fort Lauderdale. Altman now leads interior and exterior design work across multiple Ferretti models, including the Infynito series, and is expanding his portfolio into the Custom Line and Riva brands.

About Us

M2D, Inc. is a full-service design studio specializing in yacht interiors and exteriors, with additional expertise in refits, residential projects, and commercial design. Rooted in a philosophy of Strength in Design, Fluidity in Form, the studio creates spaces that balance clarity with flow, luxury with comfort.

With over a decade of experience—including the past seven years designing Ferretti Yachts showcased in the Americas—M2D brings a production-friendly, client-centered approach to every project. From custom builds to stock boats, the team collaborates with shipyards, naval architects, and private clients to deliver interiors that are practical, livable, and deeply personal. At its core,

M2D believes style is a personal brand—like a thumbprint, unique to each individual. Every yacht is designed as both a sanctuary for retreat and a stage for life on the water.
